

Questions:

1. Which of the following best describes your situation?
 - a. My spouse does not know that I want to get a divorce.
 - i. Route to section in survey that states:
We cannot do a mediation without consent from both parties. Here is a video that provides a few great tips on how to talk to your spouse about getting a divorce.
 - ii. (Survey end)
 - b. After speaking with my spouse, only one party wants to get a divorce.
 - i. Route to section in survey that states:
Mediation might not be a good fit for your situation because both parties need to agree with getting a divorce. If both parties are not entirely on board, the mediation process will be limited in providing appropriate solutions for both parties.
 - ii. (Survey end)
 - c. My spouse and I don't want to get a divorce, but we feel like there are no other options.
 - i. Route to section in survey that states:
We do not recommend people get a divorce unless they are certain that it is what they want. We suggest that they take the next 30 days to try to reconcile.
We encourage you to select alternatives that will help you reconcile, resolve concerns, or strengthen your relationship with each other. If you aren't confident that a divorce is what you want, then it is not the appropriate course of action.
 - ii. (Survey end)
 - d. My Spouse and I are in complete agreement with wanting to get a divorce.
 - i. (Continue to next question)
2. Are you willing to do the following: 1) discuss and collaborate with your spouse on how to organize your divorce agreement, and 2) be respectful and civil as you determine how to split your divorce agreement?
 - a. Yes, I am.
 - i. (Continue to next question)
 - b. No, I am not.
 - i. Route to section in survey that states:
Mediation is inherently concerned with making a challenging situation as simple as possible. This process may not be a good fit for you because it requires parties to discuss and collaborate, which will become increasingly difficult if couples are wanting to punish each other or make the divorce an adversarial experience. A mediator works as a facilitator for the discussions so you can craft a personalized agreement. If you don't believe that you can come to an agreement with your spouse, an attorney may be a better option.
 - ii. (Survey end)
3. Are you 100% committed to getting a divorce?
 - a. Yes, I am.
 - i. Upon reviewing your answers, you have met the core criteria needed to make mediation run as smoothly as possible; namely, ~~Because you and your spouse are in agreement that a divorce is necessary, on board with each other,~~ you are both willing to speak civilly and respectfully to each other, and you are both ready to make important decisions about your debts, assets, and children; ~~p~~Please click "Finish" to proceed to the next step.
 - b. No, I'm not.
 - i. Route to section in survey that states:
 - ii. Divorce is something that should be pursued only if you and your spouse are absolutely certain that this is the course you want to take. If there is any hesitation or doubt about pursuing a divorce, we recommend you and your spouse should work towards reconciling each others' relationship. The process of mediation will go much more smoothly if both spouses are confident that they want a divorce.
 - iii. (Survey end)

Rachel Wilde 10:34 AM Feb 13 ✓ ✕
Delete: ";"

Rachel Wilde 10:47 AM Feb 13
Since this is a list of only 2, the semicolon isn't needed.

Rachel Wilde 10:43 AM Feb 13 ✓ ✕
Replace: ";" with ";"

Rachel Wilde 10:43 AM Feb 13 ✓ ✕
Replace: "Because" with "namely,"

Rachel Wilde 10:43 AM Feb 13
If you don't like word "namely," the word "specifically" would also work.

Rachel Wilde 10:36 AM Feb 13 Resolve ⋮
So the criteria part conceptually goes with the sentence prior, not the instructions to click "finish." I've regrouped the three criteria to make that connection more apparent.

Rachel Wilde 10:36 AM Feb 13 ✓ ✕
Replace: "on board with each other" with "in agreement that a divorce is necessary,"

Rachel Wilde 10:47 AM Feb 13
awkward phrasing that could be misinterpreted.

Rachel Wilde 10:38 AM Feb 13 ✓ ✕
Add: "you"

Rachel Wilde 10:39 AM Feb 13 ✓ ✕
Add: "both"

Rachel Wilde 10:39 AM Feb 13 ✓ ✕
Add: "you"

Rachel Wilde 10:39 AM Feb 13 ✓ ✕
Add: "both"

Rachel Wilde 10:37 AM Feb 13 ✓ ✕
Replace: ";" with ";"

Rachel Wilde 10:37 AM Feb 13 ✓ ✕
Replace: "p" with "P"